ACCIDENTS. On the wharf yesterday morning about three o'clock an express driver going to meet the Likelike drove his horse, vehicle and himself into the water, Captain Sears got down between the wharf and the Kilauea Hou and rescued the man, who must have been either asleep or under the influence of liquor; the express and the horse sank to the hottom, the latter being drowned as it could not get free. The express was hauled up later in the day, ropes and tackle having been made fast to it by divers. Considerable amusement for the natives was caused by one of their number diving about six inches and then coming to the surface and dressing as he was

During the excitement caused by the capsize of the trio just mentioned a rush to the wharf ensued and a woman was pushed into the water but rescued without further damage than the wetting. On Saturday night, at the corner of King and Nunanu streets, an express that was driving at a pace faster than a walk, ran into a horse that was being ridden in the opposite direction, scraping some of the skin off its side.

Among the guests were H. R. H. Princess Liliuothough so well filled, was very cool and comforta-

Martha; and some appropriate remarks on Tem-

Mr. Hall and Mr. Bradley, was well rendered, after which Mr. D. M. Crowley read "Drunk as a Brute" from the Hawaiian Temperance Year Book. A du-by the "Gipsy's Warning" in which Miss Fille-brown represented a gipsy sitting over a fire singing a song of warning, and Mr. Maguire counteracted it by singing "Heed not her Warning." Miss

J. Hare then recited "The New Organ," and Mr.

Wood sang "Non e ver," for which he received the only encore of the evening, giving "Alice,

Where Art Thou." The comic operetta, "The Sisters Peak" in the peaked hats and old folks' dresses was most laughable and amusing, solos, choriusses, overskirtures and recitations being given to popular airs, such as Yankee Doodle, Rally Round the Flag and others. Miss J. Hare's recita-
